1. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify and fix the error: 'Me and him went to the store to buy some milk and bread.' 2) Identify the issue in: 'The committee discussed the budget, the venue, and whether they should they postpone the event.' What is the problem with the third item, and how should it be revised for PARALLELISM?

2. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Improve the vocabulary and style: 'The book was good and had a lot of good ideas in it.' 2) Revise this sentence for meaning and effect by replacing the vague word: 'The speech was nice and made people feel things.'

3. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify and fix the faulty parallel structure: 'The course teaches students to write clearly, think critically, and how to research effectively.' 2) Identify and correct the error in formal register: 'The findings were kinda surprising to the research team.'

4. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the issue in: 'The committee discussed the budget, the venue, and whether they should they postpone the event.' What is the problem with the third item, and how should it be revised for PARALLELISM? 2) Improve the vocabulary and style: 'The book was good and had a lot of good ideas in it.'

5. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify and fix the grammar error: 'Neither the students or the teacher was prepared for the fire drill.' 2) Identify the sentence-level issue: 'Running quickly down the street, the bus was missed by James.' What should be revised, and why?

6. Revise for conciseness: 'In my personal opinion, I think that the proposal is, in my view, a good idea.'

7. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify and correct the double negative: 'I don't have no time to finish this assignment.' 2) Which revision improves this weak topic sentence: 'This paragraph is about symbolism.' → ?

8

Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Revise for sentence variety: 'He woke up. He made coffee. He read the paper. He left for work.' What is the main issue, and how should it be fixed? 2) Identify and fix the misplaced modifier: 'She almost finished all of her homework before dinner.' If she actually finished all but one question, which word is misplaced, and how should it be corrected?

9

Identify and correct the comma splice: 'The results were clear, the committee approved the proposal immediately.'

10

Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the sentence-level issue: 'Running quickly down the street, the bus was missed by James.' What should be revised, and why? 2) Revise this sentence to fix the ambiguous modifier: 'Only the manager approved the report.' versus 'The manager only approved the report.' — what is the difference in meaning?
