ZiloAcademy

✨ Grade 5 English — Reading Fluency ✨

Name: Demo Grade 5 Date: 26/11/2026

1. Reading aloud: "She recorded a working prototype," said Leo excitedly. Should this be read in a flat, monotone voice, or with excited expression?

2. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Should this be read with more energy than a plain statement: "What an astonishing thing i did"? 2) Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did he really repair the old manuscript?"

3. Should this be read with more energy than a plain statement: "What an astonishing thing the architect did"?

4. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did oliver really repair a detailed map?" 2) Reading aloud: "I built a new melody," said Priya excitedly. Should this be read in a flat, monotone voice, or with excited expression?

5. Should this be read with more energy than a plain statement: "What an astonishing thing i did"?

6. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Should this be read with more energy than a plain statement: "What an astonishing thing the scientist did"? 2) Should this be read with more energy than a plain statement: "What an astonishing thing we did"?

7. Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did i really create a working prototype?"

8. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Reading aloud: "They repaired a rare specimen," said Noah excitedly. Should this be read in a flat, monotone voice, or with excited expression? 2) Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did the scientist really repair a complex equation?"

9. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did we really present a working prototype?" 2) Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did i really measure a complex equation?"

10

Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did the architect really design a complex equation?" 2) Should your voice rise or fall at the end of this sentence read aloud: "Did he really examine a working prototype?"