ZiloAcademy

✨ Grade 6 English — Clauses ✨

Name: Demo Grade 6 Date: 26/11/2026

1. In "The volunteers construct the experiment.", is "The volunteers construct the experiment" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

2. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) In "The committee, which took years to complete, analyses the manuscript.", is "which took years to complete" a main, subordinate, or relative clause? 2) In "The scientists, which surprised everyone, design the findings.", is "which surprised everyone" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

3. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) In "Since the scientists publish the ancient ruins, the committee announces the report.", is "Since the scientists publish the ancient ruins" a main, subordinate, or relative clause? 2) In "Although the scientist analyses the policy, the scientist announces the experiment.", is "Although the scientist analyses the policy" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

4. In "As soon as the scientist investigates the report, the scientist discovers the manuscript.", is "As soon as the scientist investigates the report" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

5. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) In "The engineers review the prototype.", is "The engineers review the prototype" a main, subordinate, or relative clause? 2) In "Whenever the scientists investigate the findings, the students approve the findings.", is "Whenever the scientists investigate the findings" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

6. In "The players analyse the experiment.", is "The players analyse the experiment" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

7. In "The committee, who discovered the ruins, launches the experiment.", is "who discovered the ruins" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

8. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) In "The author, who designed the bridge, investigates the proposal.", is "who designed the bridge" a main, subordinate, or relative clause? 2) In "The volunteers approve the policy.", is "The volunteers approve the policy" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

9. In "The architect, which dated back centuries, discovers the ancient ruins.", is "which dated back centuries" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?

10

In "Wherever the volunteers construct the policy, the jury constructs the report.", is "Wherever the volunteers construct the policy" a main, subordinate, or relative clause?