ZiloAcademy

✨ Grade 6 English — Plot & Narrative Structure ✨

Name: Demo Grade 6 Date: 26/11/2026

1. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "A young apprentice wizard is introduced, still learning basic spells."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "A sudden current traps her inside the wreck as her oxygen begins to run low."?

2. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "A sudden current traps her inside the wreck as her oxygen begins to run low."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "An ancient curse begins to spread across the kingdom, turning people to stone."?

3. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "She wins a medal and proves to herself that hard work pays off."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "The farm is saved, and the spring brings new life to the whole valley."?

4. Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "We are introduced to a young inventor working quietly in her workshop."?

5. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "A young diver is introduced, searching for a shipwreck her grandfather once described."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "A sudden current traps her inside the wreck as her oxygen begins to run low."?

6. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "She uncovers the truth during a dramatic cross-examination in court."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "We are introduced to a young inventor working quietly in her workshop."?

7. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "The farmer discovers an underground spring the night before he must decide whether to sell."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "She finds him alone at the old train yard and convinces him to come home."?

8. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "She finds him alone at the old train yard and convinces him to come home."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "Key evidence goes missing days before the trial begins."?

9. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "The hidden records are saved and the archive is preserved as a historic site."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "She surfaces safely, carrying proof that the legendary wreck was real all along."?

10. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "A young diver is introduced, searching for a shipwreck her grandfather once described."? 2) Which stage of the narrative does this event belong to (introduction, rising action, climax, or resolution): "She finds him alone at the old train yard and convinces him to come home."?