ZiloAcademy

✨ Grade 8 English — Irony ✨

Name: Demo Date: 26/11/2026

1. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "A locksmith gets locked out of his own house." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "After failing every test that semester, a student says, 'Yeah, I'm basically a genius.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

2. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "The audience knows the killer is hiding in the closet, but the character calmly says, 'I'm sure the house is empty.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "A fire station burns to the ground." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

3. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "A marriage counsellor gets divorced after twenty years of giving advice to others." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "Staring at a broken-down bus, someone remarks, 'Well, today is going brilliantly.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

4

Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "The audience watches the hero walk confidently into a trap the villain has set, unaware of the danger." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "After failing every test that semester, a student says, 'Yeah, I'm basically a genius.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

5

Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "The audience sees the villain poison the drink, but the hero raises it to toast 'a long and healthy life.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "The reader knows the map leads to a trap, but the characters cheerfully follow it without hesitation." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

6

Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "A fire station burns to the ground." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "A marriage counsellor gets divorced after twenty years of giving advice to others." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

7. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "Looking at a flooded basement, someone sighs, 'Perfect, exactly what I needed today.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "The audience knows the map the explorers are using is upside down, but the explorers confidently march on." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

8. Identify the type of irony: "After the printer jams right before the assignment is due, someone says, "Oh brilliant, right on schedule as always."" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

9. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "The audience sees the villain poison the drink, but the hero raises it to toast 'a long and healthy life.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "Looking at a flooded basement, someone sighs, 'Perfect, exactly what I needed today.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)

10. Answer both (separate your two answers with a comma). 1) Identify the type of irony: "A police station gets robbed the same week it hosts a 'crime prevention' seminar." (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony) 2) Identify the type of irony: "Looking at a flooded basement, someone sighs, 'Perfect, exactly what I needed today.'" (verbal irony/situational irony/dramatic irony)